

APPLY YOURSELF TO IMPRESSIONIST GARDENS WITH OUR NEW IPHONE APP

The National Galleries of Scotland is delighted to announce the launch of their first ever iPhone app. Created for the major summer exhibition Impressionist Gardens, it is now free to download from the iTunes store.

The Impressionist Gardens app includes video and audio specially created to enrich the exhibition experience, allowing visitors to discover more about the beautiful works on display. In addition an interactive map of the Royal Botanic Garden, Edinburgh, will enable visitors to explore the world of the Impressionists beyond the Gallery's walls, highlighting six inspiring viewpoints which echo some of the works on show. Visitors will also be able to see our programme of Impressionist Gardens events in the app calendar.

The launch of this exciting new app will be followed by the release of the Another World app, scheduled for September 2010, to compliment the blockbuster Surrealism exhibition at the Dean Gallery.

For further information and images please contact the National Galleries of Scotland's press office on 0131 624 6325/6247/6314/6332 or pressinfo@nationalgalleries.org.

-Ends-

Notes to Editors

Impressionist Gardens is a major international exhibition examining the significance, origins, and influence of the Impressionist Garden. The exhibition runs from 31 July to 17 October 2010 at the National Gallery Complex, Edinburgh. Impressionist Gardens is sponsored by BNY Mellon